FUNKY CHICKEN CLASS

FOR NON-STANDARD BIRDS ONLY

The VPBA is excited to again offer the non-standard Funky Chicken class for fun

Funky Chicken Entry Rules:

- Exhibitors may enter as many birds as you want under Funky Chickens
- Funky Chickens MUST NOT be an ABA/APA to standard specimen
- If your Funky Chicken is a Standard bird, it will be immediately disqualified
- Birds must be in good health. Blind or physically deformed are disqualified
- Entered under their PET NAME (not breed name/info)
- Live Funky Chickens still must meet ALL testing requirements of the state of VA like any and all other live birds participating in the overall poultry show

So what Funky Chickens do you have to enter?

Whether it is a project your are working on or someone snuck over the fence, you can participate in the show and have a great time with the rest of us and get experience.

Any NON-STANDARD bird could win.

Let me tell you about Cliff & Phylis Hawkes of Maine. Their primary flocks were Golden Sebrights and Black Old English game bantams. Once they had one cockerel cross between the two breeds that resulted in the cockerel having the type of a Sebright but had the rich black plumage of the OEGB and aptly named this handsome boy "The Licorice Kid". Wouldn't you know it was "The Licorice Kid" that won Champion Non-Standard many years ago at one of the first shows that did the non-standard class.

Judging: All One Group; Entries will be judged on originality & uniqueness
Awards: Rosettes to top 1st, 2nd, 3rd

The Society for Preservation of Poultry Antiquities (SPPA) State Meet for 2025 at the Virginia Poultry Breeders Association (VPBA) Fall Show

The VPBA fall show will host the Virginia State SPPA Meet for 2025. The show will be on November 22, 2025, the Saturday before Thanksgiving, at the 62nd Annual Virginia Poultry Breeders Association (VPBA) Fall Show, 8332 County Fair Lane, Ruther Glen, Virginia. Show Secretary is Kelli Stewart. This will be an APA/ABA double card show and there are already many meets placed – it looks to be a very exciting show! Judges will be Doug Cauthorne, Glen See, Jamie Matts, and John Beamer. The catalog will be available October 1, 2025. Facilitator for SPPA will be Barbara Rosholdt, e-mail: rosholdt@erols.com. SPPA will be on only one card at the show.

The SPPA has a new list of qualified birds, the updated Critical List. You can see a revised copy of the list on the website. The directory had some errors so we are using the website for the latest version. There have been a lot of changes, even to adding categories! We have received queries about birds missing from the list (see the website or a member's breeder's directory) or about adding birds to the list. The club will review any breed brought before them to be added to the list. However, the breed must have some history in this country. To inquire about adding a breed to the Critical List, please send us an article about the history of this breed, including their country of origin, development dates, entry into the U.S. and what happened after importation. Also, remember, we are human and nothing is perfect. If you see an error on the list, please bring it up to the president. If you have any questions about this, please call an SPPA board member (see website <https://www.sppaclub.org/contact>).

SPPA Awards are in the following classes (See the SPPA Critical List for qualified entries):

- Rosettes for Breeder's Award (Champion Display)
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Ancient Rare Breed (large fowl)
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Old Rare Breed (large fowl)
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Modern Rare Breed (large fowl)
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Rare Breed Bantam
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Rare Duck
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Rare Goose
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Rare Turkey
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Rare Guinea Fowl

Other sponsored awards currently include:

- $25 for Best Brabanter
- Rosettes for Champion and Reserve Champion Over All Categories
- Kalmbach will be graciously donating items for the Champions and Reserves in all classes. This year we are going to use their new poultry products: Oregano Oil and Henhouse Reserve Treats.

FUNKY CHICKEN SHOW

ENTRIES MUST FIT IN A STANDARD SHOW CAGE

Funky Chickens CANNOT meet APA/ABA Standards!

All LIVE birds MUST be healthy & meet state testing requirements. They have to be clean & interesting in some way. (Being a LIVE bird NOT required). This is truly a bonus for fun & helps a little with small, basic club supplies.
